

I'm Telling You So - J.E.Moores © Dec. 1991

XX56XX

XX55XXX :

I knew a woman who had bells on her toes
I knew a woman who had rings in her nose
I knew a woman who had ice in her eyes
I knew a woman who had spice on her clothes

E/5

E/2

I'm telling you, I'm telling you I had to let go
I'm telling you, I'm telling you, I'm telling you so
I'm telling you, I'm telling you I had to let go
And the trees whipped back in the breeze and I had to let go

A/3

D

I know you, I've loved you once or twice

A/1

E/3

Glimpses of the glitter that shines in your eyes

A/3

D

It's so simple smiling here at you

A/1

E/3

Take my hand - do what you do...

E - A ... E - A/2 - A :

And I feel...

Like something's coming down

Distorting order

Without a sound - E - F - E/3 :

Something's coming on that I can't shake away

It's on the horizon and it's on it's way

Listen to the madman but don't do what he says - just don't do what he says!

A/3

D

Let me know what to expect

A/1

E/3

Never seen you so upset

A/3

D

I can see through the pain in your eyes

A/1

E/3

Your emotions are hard to disguise.

E - A ... E - A/2 - A :

And I feel...

Like something's coming down

Distorting order

Without a sound - E - F - E/3 :

Something's coming on that I can't shake away

It's on the horizon and it's on it's way

Listen to the madman but don't do what he says - just don't do what he says!

E/5

E/2

I'm telling you...

I had to let go

I'm telling you, I'm telling you, I'm telling you so

I'm telling you, I'm telling you I had to let go

And the trees whipped back in the breeze and I had to let go

And the ocean coughed up drunken sailors and I'm telling you so

A/5 - E/5